

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS
2023

The Youth Climate Justice Fund (YCJF) provides core flexible funding to emerging youth climate justice collectives.

Groups can apply for a grant of up to USD 10,000, which can be used for a period of 12 months.

What are the criteria for applying?

You should consider applying if your group, network or collective is:

- led by young people aged 35 and under. In order to be eligible for a YCJF grant, most of your organisation's membership needs to be young people under 35 and the leadership or the individuals with decision-making power need to be young people aged 35 and under;
- based in Africa; Middle East; Asia and the Pacific; Latin America and the Caribbean; and Central, and Eastern Europe;
- based in North America or Western Europe but is led by young people who are discriminated against and/or marginalised based on class, ethnicity, background, etc;
- non-partisan, non-violent, and legal;
- and believe in and exhibit inclusive organising, collective action and intersectional movement building.

We specifically look for groups who are:

- Cultivating diverse leadership rooted in fair and equitable climate action with community power.
- Raising ambitions and commitments on climate & socio-environmental justice.
- Holding policymakers accountable to their promises and strengthening community power.

Frequently Asked Questions

As we're trying to build access and conditions for meaningful shared ownership and participation in our processes, we're committed to evolve and change to ensure that youth-led climate justice movements are able to better participate and access support.

These are 10 questions that might help you in your application, if your question is not answered, email us at ask@ycjf.org

✿ What do we mean by 'addressing climate justice and socio-environmental justice'?

We mean actions, campaigns, and projects that address the climate crisis by jointly tackling marginalisation, exploitation, and oppression, and enhancing community power, equity and justice.

✿ What do we mean by 'youth-led'?

We believe that 'youth' holds many meanings and contexts depending on worldviews and contexts. We believe that balancing between older youth under 35 years old who are discriminated against or marginalised based on class, ethnicity, Indigenous Peoples' identity, gender, etc. and very young activists who also face similar structural barriers, is key.

Frequently Asked Questions

✿ What is the “youth-to-youth” capacity program?

Young people supporting each other in peer-to-peer capacity development are the best providers of development services due to their shared experiences and understanding. We will co-build and refine the youth-to-youth capacity development depending on each cohort of grantee partners.

✿ How can we request capacity development and non-financial support?

Please reach out to our Regional lead or send an email to ask@ycjf.org.

✿ How are you funded?

Our initial set-up costs and seed funding is being provided by individuals and philanthropies - rather than private or listed companies.

✿ Do applications have to be in English?

In case you need support to apply in another language, download our application package which is available in 5 languages. Additionally, you can reach out to ask@ycjf.org to be in touch with a Regional Lead who can assist you in applying in your preferred language.

Frequently Asked Questions

Do we need to be legally registered?

No, it is not mandatory. In numerous cases, informal groups have made a substantial impact without formal registration or lacking the necessary resources to register. We are dedicated to discovering innovative ways to support such groups.

We can't access the online application form, can we get support?

Of course, email ask@ycjf.org and we will do our best to support you.

When is the deadline to submit my proposal?

You can submit your application between the 16th of August and 17th of September.

We can ask up to $10.000 USD, but can we apply even if our collective needs more funding?

We are aware that groups might need more funding to achieve certain outcomes, in case you need more funding support, please email ask@ycjf.org.
